

STRANGE ACT OF RUSSIANS

Blow Up a Torpedo Boat Destroyer To Prevent Its Capture by the Japanese.

CARRIED A MESSAGE TO, CHEE FOO

Captain Agrees to Disarm at the Request of the Chinese Government, But Destroys His Ship.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

Chefoo, Nov. 17.—Having run the blockade at Port Arthur and brought dispatches conveying to the czar General Stoessel's belief that his garrison can withstand the siege for some time yet, the Russian torpedo boat destroyer Rastoropy was blown up by its own men in the harbor of Chefoo Wednesday afternoon. She had carried sealed orders and powder for her destruction in case her escape from the Japanese fleet seemed impossible. It is believed, therefore, the commander had reason to fear the Japanese intended to enter the harbor and cut out the Rastoropy as they did the destroyer Ryshtel. To prevent a second destroyer falling into the hands of the enemy in that way the Rastoropy was blown up.

The Japanese consul says that the Russians wasted their vessel, as the Ryshtel incident would not have been repeated.

Japanese Boats Investigate. Three Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers entered the harbor, however, satisfied themselves that the Rastoropy had been sunk and departed. Commander Pelem of the Rastoropy was optimistic with reference to Port Arthur. He declared that all the forts remained in Russian hands and that the garrison was confident and in good spirits.

"I left Port Arthur at midnight in a blinding snowstorm," he said. "The boat was navigated through all the dangers of floating mines without a mishap. On reaching the open sea we saw a Japanese cruiser and some torpedo boats in the distance, but we were steaming rapidly through the storm with lights extinguished and passed them unnoticed. We reached Chefoo without mishap of any kind."

Warrior Not to Remain. The destroyer spent into Chefoo like an arrow at 6:50 Wednesday morning and anchored a few hundred yards about the United States cruiser New Orleans, flagship of Rear Admiral Folger, commander of the cruiser squadron of the Asiatic fleet. The Chinese cruiser Hai-Yung raised steam within twenty minutes and came close to the Rastoropy Captain Ching of the Hai-Yung boarded her and held a brief conference with Commander Pelem. Ensign Walworth, Rear Admiral Folger's aid, boarded the Rastoropy immediately, but he and Captain Ching were not invited to enter the Rastoropy's cabin, although a blizzard was cutting their faces.

Declares He Will Disarm. Following the conference with Capt. Ching the Rastoropy was moved farther in to the old anchorage of the destroyer Ryshtel, where the Russian consul boarded the Rastoropy and brought her dispatches ashore.

HAVE MADE PLANS FOR A GENERAL ADVANCE SOON

Japanese Intend to Start Towards Mukden at Once. Several Forays Very Recently.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

St. Petersburg, Nov. 17.—It is reported the Japanese intend to begin a forward movement November 19th in an attempt to break the center of the Russian formation on the Shalike river. It is said the Japanese are collecting a large force on the Russian eastern front. Scouts from that vicinity report the Japanese hold in the passes.

Have Crossed River. London, Nov. 17.—A Shanghai correspondent of the Post wires that Emperor William was represented at the funeral of George L. Watson, the yacht designer, at Glasgow yesterday by Baron Von Senden of the German embassy, who by command of the emperor placed a wreath on the coffin.

Later in the day, however, the Russians, with the exception of one man, left the destroyer. This last man lit fuses and blew up the vessel.

There were three dull explosions which were scarcely discernible 100 yards from the place where they occurred. Almost simultaneously the Rastoropy sank and settled on the bottom. A single spar marks her grave.

Two Japanese torpedo-boat destroyers were seen at the mouth of the harbor and their presence undoubtedly precipitated the action of the Russians in blowing up the Rastoropy.

Jap Consul Makes Protest. The Japanese consul says that nine of the Russian crew came ashore with their rifles, against which action he has protested to the authorities. Prior to the destruction of the destroyer the tool had officially notified the Japanese consul that her disarmament had been completed, the breech blocks and ammunition having been removed and the machinery disabled.

Blow Up Jap Warship. The Port Arthur newspaper, Novik, of Nov. 11, copies of which were brought to Chefoo by the Rastoropy, recounts a daring exploit which resulted in the sinking of a four-funneled Japanese torpedo-boat destroyer. Japanese torpedo boats and one destroyer were removing mines; mostly their own, from Tachio bay Nov. 3. Midshipman Dimitrieff conceived the idea that he could torpedo the Japanese boats under cover of darkness.

Securing a steam launch from the battleship Retvizan, one carrying a torpedo tube, and accompanied by half a dozen volunteers, Dimitrieff evaded the Japanese searchlights, got within striking distance and launched his projectile. There was a sudden explosion and the destroyer sank immediately. The launch then returned to the harbor.

The four issues of the Novik brought by the Rastoropy show evidence of a merciless censorship. Two of them contain no war news and not one publishes a single explicit statement having reference to the fighting on land.

More Bombarding. St. Petersburg, Nov. 17.—General Stoessel reports that the Japanese vigorously bombarded the forts and outposts on Oct. 29th. On the 26th they attacked the north front but the shrapnel fire dispersed their supports and the assault was repulsed. The Russian losses were one officer and seventy men killed and eight officers and three hundred men wounded.

Ready to Leave. London, Nov. 17.—Advices from Tokyo state that Gen. Stoessel and his forces are apparently making preparations to retire, as Port Arthur is nearing the extreme limit of his resistance.

Give up Guns. Washington, Nov. 17.—Consul General Fowler at Chefoo cables the state department that the officers of the Rastoropy with the arms and personal effects are now at the Russian consulate.

Word has reached there that the Japanese have advanced across the frozen Shalike. An important engagement is believed to be imminent.

Into Dugouts. Mukden, Nov. 17.—The severe cold has driven the soldiers of both sides into their dugouts and put a stop to the artillery and infantry fire. Three days ago the Japanese made a reconnaissance toward the extreme east and pushed back the Russian cavalry a few miles as though investigating the possibilities of a flanking movement.

At the trial of the persons charged with being responsible for the rioting last September at Gomel, Russia, an attempt was made yesterday to show that several of the witnesses had been bribed by Pereplechikoff, one of the Jew defendants, but the testimony was conflicting.

LIGHTED CIGAR DESTROYS FLATS

Gas Explosion Caused by Man Who Carried a Cigar Into the Fumes.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 17.—A lighted cigar carried by F. H. Bradley caused a gas explosion, which wrecked a three-story frame flat-building on Washington and Leavenworth streets today and probably fatally injuring Bradley and severely injuring many other occupants of the building. Several of the inmates were overcome by the gas which flowed all night in a parlor on the first floor.

REAL STORY OF SUFFERINGS TOLD

Port Arthur is in Absolute Want—Soldiers Are Starving to Death.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

Rome, Nov. 17.—The Chefoo correspondent of the Italia Militaire wires that Gen. Stoessel's report, brought to Chefoo by the destroyer Rastoropy, states that since the commencement of the siege 30,000 troops and 10,000 civilians have died. The garrison is using home-made powder. The troops are on half rations, the civilians on quarter rations. Gen. Stoessel contents himself with stating facts concerning the situation at the fortress, implying that he awaits orders as to surrender or continued resistance.

SECRETARY TAFT GOES TO PANAMA

Mrs. Taft Accompanies Him—Will Return in a Week's Time

Washington, Nov. 17.—Secretary of War, Taft, leaves tonight on his mission of investigation and conciliation in the Panama republic. He will go by the way of New Orleans and Pensacola, sailing on the cruiser Columbia. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Taft and admiral Walker, minister Obaldia and others. He expects to be gone only a week and will be back in Washington by Dec. 10th.

WISCONSIN CROPS GOOD THIS YEAR

John M. True Issues State Crop Report Showing Average Crops Were Big.

Favorable conditions for Wisconsin farmers were shown by the final state crop report for the season of 1904, just issued by Secretary John M. True of the state board of agriculture. The averages of yield per acre are good except for corn and the quality of this crop is also slightly off but all other crops did well, better than last year, and the situation is one of prosperity for the large agricultural population of Wisconsin.

Gratifying results are noted in the leading grain crop of the state—oats. Both in yield and quality the crop is good. By reason of the great dairying interests of Wisconsin the pasture and hay crops are of the highest importance and the fact that pastures have been luxuriant all season and the hay heavy and good; means that a great harvest has been made daily by the farmers through their dairy herds, which cannot be computed or estimated in the crop report.

Secretary True notes the surprising and gratifying fact that upward of 12,000 acres of sugar beets were successfully grown in the state this season. The potato crop has been wonderful and the product good. Prices are not high but there is indicated a ready market. Fruit was good and the apple crop surpassed earlier expectations. Prices of farm products are steady and moderately high.

HICKER RESIGNS FROM COMMISSION

Member of Panama Canal Commission Feared General Breakdown of His Health.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

Washington, Nov. 17.—P. J. Hicker has resigned as a member of the Panama canal commission. The reason given is that he fears a general breakdown of his health. President Roosevelt accepted his resignation with regret.

MOTORMAN KILLED IN CAR COLLISION

Accident on Rapid Transit Electric Road in Chattanooga—Several Passengers Seriously Injured.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.)

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 17.—As a result of a collision here on the rapid transit electric road this morning a motorman by the name of Burkner will die, and several passengers were seriously injured. Both cars were completely demolished. The accident was due to a heavy fog which hung over the city.

STATE NOTES

Mrs. Phoebe Grandall Carpenter, who lives near Beloit, celebrated her 100th birthday on Wednesday. William Lewis, after managing the Merchants' hotel at Racine for a quarter of a century, has retired and the house probably will be closed on Saturday.

W. R. Chapman, for the last twenty years manager for the Western Union Telegraph company at La Crosse, has been appointed manager at St. Paul, Minn.

The abbot of Painsthorpe, England, and Bertha Bernard, have arrived in Green Bay and will be the guests of the Rev. F. W. Merrill at Ogdessa.

A district convention of the Women's Relief corps is in session in Beloit, the corps of Beloit, Janesville, Shullsburg, Monroe, Brodhead, Monticello, and Sharon being represented.

The annual reunion and ball of the Oshkosh Old Settlers' club, was given Wednesday evening. The early dances of the evening were all of the old fashioned variety and the elders were given full sway on the floor. Later their children and grand-children danced more modern measures.

The Upper Mississippi Improvement association has elected J. C. Burns of La Crosse vice president for Wisconsin and adopted resolutions asking congress to make an appropriation sufficient to secure a six foot channel in the Mississippi between St. Louis and St. Paul, to be completed when the Isthmian canal is opened.

Funeral of Yacht Designer. Glasgow, Nov. 17.—The funeral of George Lennox Watson, the yacht designer, took place Wednesday. The floral offerings included a wreath, with the inscription "To My Friend Watson," sent by Kaiser Wilhelm.

Woman Educator Dies. Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 17.—Miss Clara Conway, one of the best-known woman educators in the South, is dead after an illness of several days.

DEMAND GOOD LARGE AMOUNT

Half Million Asked for Charities in the State of Illinois This Next Year.

THE CARE OF INSANE DISCUSSED

Conference Argues That Counties Should Be Relieved of the Care of The Insane—A State Charge.

Rockford, Ill., Nov. 17.—When the next state legislature convenes it will be informed of a few of the things which charitable institutions and associations of this state consider absolutely necessary. Appropriations amounting to about $500,000 will be needed to secure all the improvements suggested, but the state conference of charities which advocates the reforms will be satisfied with a sum considerably under that, if it can be obtained for the improvements asked.

At the same time the recommendations were adopted by the conference of the superintendents of the various state institutions the session was informed by representatives of Chicago Women's clubs that the systematic inspection of state institutions is about to be undertaken by women, and the superintendents were asked to regard the promised visits of women investigators as friendly.

Charity Reforms Needed. What the conference of charities wants of the state legislature was outlined in brief by the resolutions adopted. Most of the provisions look to legislative action. Some can be obtained without the aid of the general assembly but with the cooperation of the authorities. The resolutions recommended:

The transfer of the Dunning asylum of Cook county from the care of the county to the state.

The transfer of all insane patients from the various county poorhouses to the state institutions.

The substitution of a "more modern system" for the present grand jury system.

The establishment of an epileptic colony and an appropriation for that purpose from the state legislature.

Investigation and correction of all faulty tenements and dwellings in Chicago.

Passage of a bill compelling the disinfection of houses in which there has been death from consumption.

More adequate appropriation for the state factory inspector's office to enable a more rigid enforcement of the laws pertaining to space and light.

Passage of a bill to regulate the surrender, placing, and transfer of children.

Passage of a bill to provide for the visitation of children placed in family homes.

Custody of all feeble minded women by the state.

Care of Epileptics. Dr. V. H. Podstata of the Dunning institution made the report of the committee on the care of epileptics in which the establishment of a colony by the state is urged as of extreme importance.

TAR PLANT FIRE CAUSES A DEATH

Denver the Scene of a Fatal Blaze Which Destroyed the Life of One Man.

(Special by Scripps-Mellie.) Denver, Col., Nov. 17.—Clement L. Clark was burned to death and three other employees seriously injured as a result of a fire which destroyed the tar plant of the Denver Gas and Electric Light company today.

CHARRED BODY OF MAN IN SMOLDERING RUIN

Murder Mystery is Suggested by Finding of Corpses of Aged Recluse in Indiana Clearing.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 17.—The finding of the body of John H. Perkins in a strip of lonely woods one mile south of Granger and the peculiar circumstances surrounding his death suggest a murder mystery. The remains were discovered under the charred ruins of a shanty and were in a horrible condition, the top of the head being crushed in and the body burned almost to a crisp. When the coroner reached the clearing where once stood the shanty nothing remained except the smoldering timber, in the center of which lay the body, the head thrown back and the arms extended. The supposed murdered man was 60 years old. Several years ago he lived in South Bend and at that time it is known that he had considerable money. Those who hold to the murder theory think Perkins was attacked during the night and that he was killed before he could defend himself. Then, to conceal the crime, the body was put in the shanty and a fire started.

state board of charity, he said, indicate that there are about 3,000 epileptics in Illinois. Dr. Podstata displayed plans for cottages designed by the state architect, showing that two story cottages could be erected at a cost of about $300 per inmate. Dr. Podstata recommended single story cottages in preference to the double story plan.

As a beginning for the colony it is proposed to ask the legislature for the appropriation of an amount at least sufficient to purchase 1,000 acres of land for the site. "Such land undoubtedly would have on it buildings which could be used," said the physician, "and in this way a start could be made."

Prof. J. H. Freeman, superintendent of the institution for the education of the blind at Jacksonville, explained in detail the processes of the school, and spoke of the success attending the instruction of Emma Kublack, a deaf, dumb and blind girl, presenting a problem similar to that of Helen Keller. He asked for some provision for the care of feeble-minded children, asserting that they should not be allowed to associate with blind children of intelligence.

Conference Officers. The conference re-elected President John A. Brown of Decatur and Secretary Frank D. Whippy of Springfield.

The new vice-presidents are: M. M. Mallory of Pontiac, Mrs. Emma Quinlan of Chicago, Mrs. Sarah Montgomery of Springfield.

The new executive committee are: Sherman Kingsley of Chicago, Mrs. P. P. Bagley of Riverside, Mrs. J. A. Parsons of Jacksonville, Judge Julien Mack of Chicago, W. L. Cooper of Peoria.

Reports on Tuberculosis. Dr. George W. Webster, president of the state board of health, made a report of the committee on the care of tuberculosis poor.

A number of Chicago and state physicians explained the work being done to stamp out consumption. Dr. A. C. Klebs and Dr. W. E. Evans of the Visiting Nurses' association outlined the system by which that organization works in Chicago, collecting information and teaching hygiene.

Secretary Evans of the state health board reported 7,100 deaths from the disease, officially recorded in the state last year. Dr. J. W. Pettus of Ottawa told of experiments in a camp now being conducted at Ottawa. An effort will be made by various preventive associations to secure an appropriation from the next legislature for a consumption hospital.

Dr. V. H. Podstata of the Dunning institution made the report of the committee on the care of epileptics in which the establishment of a colony by the state is urged as of extreme importance.

ROOSEVELT TALKS OF THE WEST AS

TO THE FUTURE POSSIBILITIES OF IRRIGATION.

WRITES TO THE CONGRESS

Tells Them He Writes Not as a President, But as a Western Man.

A letter from President Roosevelt warmly commending the work of the irrigation congress was read at the session of that body in El Paso and was received with great enthusiasm. The letter was as follows:

Washington, Nov. 10.—To the National Irrigation Congress: It is a pleasure to send my greeting to you, both as president of the United States and as a man who has lived in the west and is eager for its prosperity. Whatever any man or body of men may believe as to any question in political controversy, we may all unite in the great duty of internal improvement; the duty of making every foot of soil, every stream, and every other resource of natural or human origin, contribute to the very utmost to the permanent prosperity of our country.

Sends Congratulations

I congratulate you because you are no longer striving for what once seemed a distant hope, you are no longer engaged in a campaign of education for the passage of the reclamation act. On the contrary, your first great object is achieved. You have yet to consider what has been done and what is being done under that act by the reclamation service, to consider means to give it its largest and widest results, and to discuss the broad problems of irrigation methods and practices.

It was through your efforts, and those of men like you, that the people of the United States as a nation undertook to attack the desert and to do away with it not only so far as there is water now for that purpose, but to the fullest extent for which water may be developed hereafter. Such an attack can be successful only when based on accurate knowledge. When the reclamation act was passed the essential facts as to stream flow had been ascertained in many parts of the United States and the scientific basis for national reclamation, which otherwise would have taken years to accumulate, was already in a large part at hand. The fact that so much progress has already been made by the reclamation service is a striking example of the advantage of scientific investigation by the general government.

It may be true that a man whose interest is limited to the immediate results of the reclamation act at times seems to be building for a great future, and it is far more important that the work built should be permanent and successful than that they should be completed in haste. There will be no unwelcome delay. Most of the great problems of organization and methods have now been solved and progress in construction and settlement is being made with increasing rapidity. The passage of the reclamation law was a great step toward realizing the best methods to produce water for irrigation.

But always and in every place the best use of public lands is their use by the man who has come to stay. There are unfortunately in every part of our country a few men whose interests are purely temporary, who are eager to skim the cream and go. Instead of using the forests conservatively they would, for example, abuse and destroy the natural reservoirs upon which national irrigation depends, to the permanent loss of every agency which makes for the true development and lasting greatness of the irrigable states. Such interests cannot be allowed to control.

Now that your first great object has been accomplished in the passage of the reclamation law you should make yourselves the guardians of the future. In forestry, grazing and mineral wealth the foundation stones of the new and greater west for irrigation and every other interest which you represent the period of exclusiveness is past. The stock interests are no longer independent of the mining interests, nor neither of them independent of the irrigator. A closer interweaving than ever before is at hand, among all the great interests of the whole country. One can not prosper without the other. So the future growth and greatness of the other eastern interests will depend, in the first degree, upon the development of irrigation, and the development of irrigation will depend upon the protection and wise use of the existing forests, and the creation of new ones and the proper control of the grazing. Your work for the good of one interest is for the good of all.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT.

WHY DOES

A BABY CRY?

Because it is either hungry or in pain. Properly nourished it will usually grow up right and be comfortable—that's the principal thing for a baby. If its food lacks strength and nourishment add Scott's Emulsion at feeding time. A few drops will show surprising results. If a baby is plump it is reasonably safe. HOW IT WORKS IN WYOMING

Divorces and Crime Decrease Under Woman's and Man's Equal Right—Individualism and Republicanism

In the Congressional church parlors last evening the convention of the Woman's Suffrage Association of Wisconsin which has been in session here the last two days came to a close with a lecture on "Woman Suffrage and Its Relation to Moral Reform" by Mrs. Clara B. Colby of Washington, D. C. Mrs. Colby was the editor of the Woman's Tribune, the advocate of woman suffrage and the organ of all state associations. She said in brief that the moral influence of suffrage upon the ballot would be great, because by the figures that show only two per cent of the convicted criminals are women it can be seen that there are fewer bad women than bad men. She took a new stand up on the question and pleaded for suffrage, not only because it bears a good moral influence upon the country and the men but because it would make the women themselves better and arouse them to their civic responsibility which they have now nearly forgotten.

Women Deserve Credit

The philosophy of the idea will fit into every basic idea of the universe. The quickened power of mind that has enabled him to invent the telegraph and other great powers of the present age was transferred to him from the quickened intellect of his mother. The government has changed from one of brute force as in the middle ages to one of intellect. When might made right women were not by nature meant to be part of the government but now women could be allowed to have a voice, for the intellect of woman is the equal of that of man and the finer force of woman's nature is now needed, and this force must be represented to utilize it.

Individualism and Suffrage

To develop the idea of the republic the development of individualism must be developed. In the colonies only the church members had a voice in the government, later only the property owners, then the white men, next all men and now it is time for the woman to be granted the ballot. The United States has progressed beyond the ancient countries in only one line—that of the development of the individual; but there is yet room for still more development until women are part of the government. The exclusion of women from the polls violates every fundamental principle of the republic and women are placed in a lower class than negroes and freed men and nearly every class of men and women who are not represented.

Patriotism Due to Mothers

Patriotism would long ago have died out had not the mothers and women school-teachers taught it to the boys—the future men—and the great grand principles of our forefathers who made it possible to and did create this government would have been lost sight of. These basic principles are: right, justice, peace, and freedom which if disregarded may cause the downfall and the disintegration of this nation. Enfranchise the leaders and teachers of men and better citizenship will be the result.

Woman's Development

All the principles of suffrage are in harmony with the development of women and all the rights that women have gained have been won by the suffrage agitation. It is said that the home is the place for the women, be the day when there is plenty of work to be done there has passed and women have been forced into the industrial world.

Provisions—These markets have been more irregular than anything else, and for the time being show little tendency. The corn crop looks big enough to furnish plenty of corn, but in our opinion will be fed in the west less freely than the demand that will be made on the American crop for other uses. The east is practically bare of corn and the high prices bid are for the moment shutting out export business to some extent, but as this falls off foreign business will take its place. At any rate we think we would rather buy provisions on any break than to go short except on some particularly sharp advance.

Coffee—The coffee market has been more active and firmer. There does not seem to have been any particular change in the general situation. Receipts have been running a little lighter, as was expected, and warehouse deliveries have been good, pointing to a reduction in visible supplies for the month fully equal to that of last year. Demand apparently has come chiefly from Wall Street, Europe and some of the large trade interests. On last Friday prices showed an advance of fully 65 points from the low point of last month, and were at about the previous high level for the season. This was followed by increased liquidation and a partial reaction, but the buying at the decline was of a good character. While we might have a slight reaction, it is our opinion that coffee has seen the low point for some time to come.

Yours very truly,
J. S. BACHE & CO.

Woman's Development

Provisions—These markets have been more irregular than anything else, and for the time being show little tendency. The corn crop looks big enough to furnish plenty of corn, but in our opinion will be fed in the west less freely than the demand that will be made on the American crop for other uses. The east is practically bare of corn and the high prices bid are for the moment shutting out export business to some extent, but as this falls off foreign business will take its place. At any rate we think we would rather buy provisions on any break than to go short except on some particularly sharp advance.

Coffee—The coffee market has been more active and firmer. There does not seem to have been any particular change in the general situation. Receipts have been running a little lighter, as was expected, and warehouse deliveries have been good, pointing to a reduction in visible supplies for the month fully equal to that of last year. Demand apparently has come chiefly from Wall Street, Europe and some of the large trade interests. On last Friday prices showed an advance of fully 65 points from the low point of last month, and were at about the previous high level for the season. This was followed by increased liquidation and a partial reaction, but the buying at the decline was of a good character. While we might have a slight reaction, it is our opinion that coffee has seen the low point for some time to come.

MANY PRIZES FOR HIS FINE POULTRY

James Libburn Was Well Rewarded for His Big Exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition.

Medals and blue ribbons galore as well as many hundreds of dollars in cash prizes were captured by James Libburn at the St. Louis exposition poultry exhibit. Six hundred fowls were sent in private express cars and the showing excited the admiration of thousands of farmers from all sections of the country. The Libburn farm is located south of Janesville on the Emerald Grove road.

A NOVEL MADE IN VELVETEEN

The velveteens, particularly in the new printed patterns, are extremely modish, and the latest idea makes much use of cloth in conjunction with the pile fabric. Over a blouse of onion-colored chiffon cloth with sleeves to match there is a cape effect in brown velvet having a shagreened or herringbone repeating the onion colorings. The high collar collar that is so fashionable and becoming is of cloth bordered with velvet, and large fancy buttons with dummy buttonholes make a securing fastening either side of the front. This cape extends into a vestlike back, its long over the arm and comes half way to the belt in front. The skirt is forced, a side pleat attached into each gore, and the length is the correct walking one that just clears the ground all around, just long enough to show the tip of the shiny black shoe and no more.

All the principles of suffrage are in harmony with the development of women and all the rights that women have gained have been won by the suffrage agitation. trial to compete with men on equal terms by the change of conditions. Some plea for suffrage for self culture, but the plea should be on the grounds that women be allowed to give something to her country in return for what benefits she derives. Our grandmothers did their duty and raised up a great grand race but when women by the right of suffrage would feel their civic responsibility they will teach more the principles of civic duty to children.

Success of Experiment

Formerly for argument theory had to be relied upon but now suffrage has been tried in several states and facts can be used. At this point Mrs. Colby threw out a bold challenge to the opponents of suffrage to investigate for themselves. She went on to say that in Wyoming for twenty-one years suffrage could have been taken from the women but when the state was admitted to the union the women were forever given the right to vote there and the fact that it was not taken away before shows that it gave entire satisfaction to all. In the United States the population has increased twenty-four per cent in ten years and in the same time crime has increased forty per cent, while in Wyoming where the population has increased four times faster than in the United States crime has not increased at all. Suffrage has here improved the temper of the community and unless some more refining power can be found to reinforce the law-abiding portion in the country the nation will fall.

Divorce and Suffrage

The increase in the number of divorces is due to the laxity of the laws that the men have passed which are taken advantage of by men as well as women. A Baptist minister in a Chicago convention recently stated that while women were seeking the ballots the homes were decaying and divorces increasing but these are the same arguments that were advanced against the education of their betterment started, and in Wyoming the number of divorces were alarmingly small (to suffrage opponents). Divorces have increased in proportion to the population in the country thirty-eight per cent and in the nation fifty per cent, while in Wyoming they have decreased twenty-nine per cent.

What Suffrage Has Done

All laws for the protection of girls have been at the agitation of women suffragists and the only states where women receive the same wages for the same work are those where women have equal rights with men.

The laws of nature rule that one sex cannot forgo ahead of the other for the weaknesses and strength of the mother is transferred to the son and the weaknesses and strength of the father to the daughters.

The Woman Arlaine

Like Greece was under the power of Crete and each year sent a tribute of seven of her bravest and most beautiful sons for the Minotaur to feed upon, so this country is under the power of vice and crime and each year hundreds of our bravest, strongest and most beautiful sons are sacrificed to this monster. Greece was freed only when Arlaine furnished Thebes with his sword and a spool of silver thread that he might enter the labyrinth, kill the terrible creature and America will be freed from vice and crime only when woman is freed from the fetters and has put upon her so that she may arm him with the sword and thread to kill the monster.

News for the Railroad Men.

Northwestern

T. J. M. Clark reported for work yesterday afternoon.

Bert Carrer has returned to work on the night switch engine.

Boss car-repairer Schumacher was called to Harvard yesterday to inspect a special car belonging to an Uncle Tom's Cabin Co.

Hereafter both night switch engines will commence work at six o'clock. Formerly one began at six and the other at seven.

Fireman Erdman has reported for work on the north end way freight.

Conductor Keeler of the Chicago way freight is laying off on account of sickness, being relieved by conductor George Wittwer.

Engineer W. Roew is being relieved by engineer A. E. James.

Conductor Briggs is relieving conductor J. C. Clark on the Minnesota night freight.

Road-master J. C. Diener of Harvard was in the city yesterday on business.

There is one car in the yards that is calling forth a comment from nearly every one who sees it. It is a flat car and looks as if some one had with a huge ax chopped through the middle of it. The accident happened on one of the north bound trains about a week ago. The switch engine was pushing behind while the brake on the forward cars was set and the result was that this car which was near the rear of the train was doubled up with the two ends nearly touching each other.

St. Paul

Edwin Mead began firing on the switch engine last night.

Three baggage cars loaded with scenery for "The Billionaire" show troupe were brought here this morning by the 10:30 train from Milwaukee, where the company has been playing.

General News.

Railroad men in the east are much concerned over a report, seemingly authoritative, that the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western railroad, after three years of study by its high officials, will soon be equipped with electric power.

It is also related that when the architects were asked to draw plans for the power-house now building in Scranton, Pa., which will operate the electrical signal system, it was impressed upon them that they must plan so that an immense addition might easily be made to allow for the installation of a mammoth power plant, presumably to operate the road with electricity.

Under the direction of Joint Agent Norton of the St. Louis terminal lines in St. Louis, four brokers in that city have been raided, with the result that 1,000 return portions or tickets were confiscated and the brokers obliged to settle claims of passengers to the extent of $500 in cash.

Following the plan recently adopted by many large railroad companies the Erie has reduced its train crews, dispensing with one of the brakemen in each crew.

At the annual meeting of the western pass agreement it was decided to renew the agreement in force during 1904, with only a few minor changes.

Circulars have been issued by the Rock Island removing the office of Comptroller W. M. Stevenson from Chicago to New York, appointing Frank Day, formerly assistant comptroller, to be general auditor and abolishing the position of assistant comptroller.

Timothy E. Byrnes, Minneapolis, formerly president of the League of American Clubs, and sergeant-at-arms of the national republican convention, has been appointed assistant to Charles S. Mellon, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railway.

At a joint meeting of western and eastern traffic men it was decided to insist on the proposed advance in the rates on grain and grain products, which is scheduled to take place December 5.

DECENIAL CENSUS IS TO BE TAKEN

According to Calculations Census Should Show Population of 2,225,900 in Wisconsin.

Next year the decennial census of the state of Wisconsin will be taken under direction of the secretary of state and notices have already been issued. The census will be taken by town, village and city clerks, who will receive $1.50 for every hundred names. They will make their returns to the county clerks, who will receive $3.50 per 1,000 names for copying the lists. The expenses of making the enumeration of about 2,200,000 people, the approximate population of the state, will be $4,170. In addition to this is all the work in the secretary of state's office, printing, etc., which will bring the cost of taking the census up to or above $100,000. The population in 1895, according to the state census, was 1,937,945. In 1885 it was 1,686,880, and the gain in the succeeding decade was a little short of 15 per cent. At the same rate of increase the population next year should be 2,225,000, the population according to the last federal census in 1900 was 2,069,042.

Generally fair tonight and Friday; fresh southerly winds.

What can I do to get customers into my store? This is the question that is uppermost in almost every merchant's mind. Would it be worth anything to you to have a salesman step into 90 per cent of the homes in this community every evening and speak a few words about your store and your goods? It would be too expensive to hire such a person, if it were practicable, but you can speak to them through an advertisement in this paper and at the time when the day card is over and the people's minds are receptive.

THE TIME TO DO THINGS.

Fred from doubt and suspicion, rising from depression, the United States now faces at least one year, and so far as one can penetrate the future, two or three years of good times. Everything seems to speak of such a development. Money plenty, with a yearly addition to the supply from the mines of many millions; the railroads in good control and rates well maintained, the crops ample and in some cases very bona fide; renewed vigor in the iron and steel trade; an uplift in the stock market of remarkable proportions; the election over to the satisfaction of an overwhelming majority of the American people,—such is the situation as it now presents itself.

Under such conditions what is our plain duty, and what is our natural inclination as a people? Our duty and our inclination diverge. Our inclination is to let things take their course so long as that course runs to the advantage of our pockets. In "lean" times we are apt to say to those who propose some important change: "Oh, don't do anything now. Don't interfere with business just as the time that business is good and we are making money. Don't irritate the horse when he is running, without a break at a 2:20 gait. It is no time to make repairs when the machine is turning out its utmost capacity. Let us alone with your plans and reforms, until another time. We are too busy now."

This is not only natural, but to a certain extent it is justified. Prosperity is too delicate a thing to be subject to disturbance. It is a peach-blow vase, needing to be handled carefully.

But in a large sense the time to do things that really need to be done is when the country is prosperous and busy. It ought to be with a nation as it is with an individual. When you want a thing done, go to the man who is busiest; he will somehow find time to do it, while the man who has plenty of time on his hands is "too busy" to be approached. So the nation ought to find time when it is busiest to do necessary things in the way of readjustment and reform.

The "fat" years are the best in which to do things because they will then be done in a spirit of optimism and by men who believe in the maintenance of law and the rights of property. Wait until the "lean" years and the same things will be done, but furtively, in a spirit of pessimism, but perhaps revenge, and by men who are denagogues or sincere enemies of the existing order.

Now that there are certain things that need to be done there can be no doubt. These questions of tariff revision, of corporation reform, or regulation of rates, of publicity for companies, of a readjustment of the currency system,—now is the time to take hold of them. And yet how strong is the temptation to let them alone, now that the days are pouring a golden stream into the reservoirs of commercial enterprise. Yet the longer we leave them alone, the harder they will be of solution, and the more acute will become the evils and inequalities which result from them. Harsh, indeed, would be the methods of solution in the "lean" years that may come.

A SOBERING RESPONSIBILITY

The responsibility which devolves upon the republican party as a result of the election, should sober the minds of republican leaders. The story of the election is simplicity itself. The republican party has been made trustee, not for the principles that have heretofore constituted its republican creed, but for the substantial extension of some of those principles and for substantial modification in the application of others. The country has divided itself on lines of conservatism and radicalism, and has done it for the first time in its history. The old democratic party is dead, and its place is occupied by a party standing for ideas in the main socialistic in their character. The republican party has been re-elected to power not on its platform of high protection, but with the understanding that in the matter of the tariff it shall "take occasion by the hand and make the bounds of freedom wider yet." It has been elected to power not as the foster-mother of the "trust idea," but with the understanding that it shall compel each and everyone, trust or individual, to obey the law. The republican party has been elected to office this time not as the champion of capital against labor, but as the trustee for the individual citizen in the enjoyment of his rights.

It is a great responsibility and a magnificent opportunity that confronts that party. It has won the fight on the principles exemplified by its leader, President Roosevelt. If it is true to the trust which has been placed in its hands by the people, it may continue indefinitely in power. But the people expect redemption of the promise to modify the tariff. It expects the republican party to enforce the law, as the law stands, against each and everyone who breaks it. It expects the republican party to root out of the public service graft and corruption wherever it be found. If the republican party falls in these things, the people will not be much to blame if they decide in the interest of liberty to give radicalism a chance. There is no middle course any longer open. Failure by the republican party in the task now before it will entail a terrible reckoning for everyone.

A RAILROAD BLOCK SYSTEM LAW

The railway accident record for the year has been a bad one. Casualties have reached the appalling aggregate this year of 54,937, which is 6,000 greater than the losses from three days' fighting at Gettysburg. It is a record which is humiliating to railway men whether officers or employees. Four thousand people, equivalent to four regiments of the army, have this year paid the penalty of somebody's neglect or of the negligent policy of the railroad's directors, while 47,000 more are crippled more or less permanently for the rest of their lives.

The public will not lie back in impotence and consent to the repetition indefinitely of the record which the railroads have been making in the past few years. Last year the Interstate Commerce commission made a recommendation to Congress that a law be passed compelling railroads to block system their lines on a schedule of installments that would give them until 1909 to complete the work.

The feeling among railway managers today is that some action is very certain to be taken at the next session of congress. The attitude towards the agitation taken by railroad men is not always the same.

Where railroads have not been equipped with the safety appliances which the advanced railway practice calls for, the fault generally lies not with the manager but with directors who have failed to act upon his best judgment. Some managers who deprecate the necessity of public intrusion in the administrative affairs of the railroad would be disposed favorably toward congressional action because such action would give weight to their recommendation to their directors.

Whenever the legislative body undertakes to prescribe the formulae of safety or enters specifically into the administrative affairs of a concern conducted under private auspices, there is always danger of mistakes being made. The policy of the government hitherto has been largely to lodge the responsibility for neglect against the corporation and leave it to its own devices in making proper precautions. Yet, it must be admitted that the law requiring automatic couplers and air brakes on cars has worked well.

PUBLICITY PAYS.

Roosevelt carried the state of Massachusetts by 80,000 plurality, but William L. Douglas, the democratic candidate for governor, was elected by 35,000 plurality. Mr. Douglas' explanation of this extraordinary result is summed up in the following sentences:

"Publicity and a real issue. Advertising made my business pay and I used it to the limit in arousing and directing the sentiment which I knew to be widespread on the subject which was our chief issue—reciprocity and tariff relief."

Mr. Douglas' business advertisements have made his face, his name and the article which he manufactures known from one end of the country to the other. Mr. Douglas' political advertisements have made him governor of Massachusetts.

Never has there been a more signal proof of the value of advertising. There is an evolution in progress in the methods of conducting campaigns. Advertising is to be employed to a greater extent than ever before. Printer's ink is to take the supreme place heretofore occupied by the stump speaker.

LET THERE BE PEACE.

The report from London that Japan would welcome negotiations for peace, and that it is expected that President Roosevelt will take the lead in trying to bring about a settlement of the war is, if true, the most hopeful development in the international politics.

What distinction would be Mr. Roosevelt's if he succeeded in bringing to an end this, the most bloody of modern wars, and what a rebuke to those who have been denouncing him as "a man on horseback," eager for the pomp and glory of war!

PRESS COMMENT.

Green Bay Gazette: The social democrats as a political party have ceased to be a joke.

Madison Democrat: Talk of the presidency for Governor La Follette is more interesting than deflecting.

Houghton Mining Journal: Before the close of his new term Governor La Follette should have the Stairwells so tame that they will eat out of his hand.

Superior Telegram: Business conditions in almost every line of production, commerce and finance, are better than ever before in modern times. Golden opportunities are ripe for every hand that is skilled to pluck them.

Madison Journal: Wisconsin democrats, by holding a convention previous to the primary, will have an opportunity to be knocked out twice in one year, and thus secure valuable athletic training.

Racine Journal: The great world's fair closes on the 1st of December. If you have not been to St. Louis and can spare the time and money you should certainly make the visit.

Boston Globe: The first day's regular receipts of the New York subway were given to the New York city hospitals—a sort of advance payment, as it were.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The Milwaukee Free Press has studied it out and finds that the revival of business since election is not due to the slightest measure to the success of President Roosevelt, but is the natural result of the reelection of Governor La Follette.

Chicago Record-Herald: An English scientist has discovered that people emit rays, red, pink, blue, green, yellow, brown, gray, etc., each according to his temperament. It would be interesting to have a report on Colonel Watterston's rays about now.

La Crosse Leader-Press: The state of Wisconsin has failed to get rid of John J. Kempf. Nobody wanted him, yet nearly everybody seems to have voted for him, and the spectacle is now presented of a state officer, repudiated by all parties, a confessed defaulter and incompetent, being chosen by a majority of many thousands for the responsible position for which it has been necessary recently to oust him. Blind partisanship and a blanket ballot proved more potent than intelligent citizenship.

Milwaukee Sentinel: The question now arises, will Gov. La Follette order a primary for the purpose of nominating candidates for the United States senate? Three parties will be represented in the legislature. Every voter in the state has a statutory right to participate in the nominations. Will that right—for which Gov. La Follette has made such passionate pleas from a thousand stumps—be denied to the people?

NO WORK FOR THE RURAL CARRIERS

Thanksgiving Day Is To Be a Legal Holiday in the True Sense of the Word.

Fourth Assistant Postmaster-General J. H. Hilstow has issued a notice which is being sent to every postmaster in the United States to the effect that on Thanksgiving day there will be no delivery of mails in rural districts. It reads as follows: "In accordance with the order of the postmaster general, rural letter carriers are granted permission to observe Thanksgiving day as a holiday. No delivery of mail to patrons or to intermediate offices shall be made by them on that day. No deduction shall be made in carriers' salaries on account of suspension of the service. From the day as though it were Sunday in preparing carrier's November vouchers. If your office is kept open during any part of the day, patrons of rural routes should be given their mail if they call for it."

A Tricky Skipper.

"Talking about rats," said a stevedore one a sixth street pier, "reminds me of a pretty slick trick I witnessed the other day on the part of a down east Skipper who wished to rid the ship of a number of troublesome rodents. His vessel was moored near to an English freighter, and he noticed that she was taking in a quantity of cheese. So one evening he found an excuse for hauling out to her and taking his own packet alongside. The next step was to procure a plank, smear it well with an odoriferous preparation of red herring and placed it through an opening port on board the Englishman. The result was that during the night there was a wholesale immigration of rats from the American ship's hold to the cheese-laden vessel alongside," says the New York Press.

GOOD LECTURE ON ART SUBJECTS

Excellent Address Given at the Art Exhibit Last Evening.

Of all the attractive paintings of the Thurber collection which was opened to the public under the auspices of the Janesville Art League at the library building last evening, that delicious little canvas, "The Passport," was easily the favorite with the men visitors. The whole story of the willingness of the humble and ignorant in all ages to abuse themselves and abjectly offer tribute to the military is there told in a language clearer than words. The awe inspiring figure of the sergeant, with cocked hat and cockade, red coat, brass buttons, countless boots, his short sword dangling conspicuously in the foreground, confronts the meek and ponderous hornblower and his equally fearful but dapper little companion, at the city's gate. The sergeant has a small, bristling tuft of beard and his lips are pursed in a manner calculated to inspire apprehension in the hearts of his observers, as he pretends to gaze through his spectacles at the paper which the well-nigh trembling "muster" has just submitted. As we look at him we are quite certain that it is all a pose, that he cannot read and his intelligence is not above that of the two harmless wayfarers whose progress he is delaying for the sole purpose of impressing them with his authority. This is where the humor of the story comes in. The musician and his guides, companion and gaze with pleading eyes at this great man, ready to do any sort of homage, to abjectly grovel in the dust at the wave of his hand. Their self-possession is only fortified by the knowledge that their papers are alright, but that is not going to sustain them much longer if he does not relax that left arm which is crooked stiffly to the bench on which he is sitting with the fingers clenched and thumb thrown out in a most threatening attitude. The detail of the picture is wonderful. The thin wisps of hair on the almost bald pate of the musician, curled upward by the removal of the cap which he carries deferentially in his hand, the many dents in the old brass horn under his arm, the gleam of sunlight on the recently shaved, the little shadow of the spectacle-wire on his face, the imperfections in the plastered walls, are all wrought out with a care which challenges the magnifying glass. Karl Kronberger of the Munich school is the painter and his little painting "talks."

Seymour J. Thurber in his lecture last evening spoke first of three American artists whose oils appear in this collection. They are H. Bolton Jones, Walter McEwen, and Edwin Lord Weeks. He touched upon the bright, outdoor atmosphere of McEwen's "Kite Flying" in Holland and the wonderful play of effects and perfection of detail in Weeks' "Procession in Hingham." The Dutch school is represented by Bernard de Hoog's "Contentment," valued at $2,000. The pose of the mother in this homely Dutch home scene and the sweetness of the face, reflecting that peculiar charm of motherhood and devotion, was the chief attraction of the painting. Other pictures from this school are Carl Westerbeeck's "Sheep in Pasture," Steelink's "In the Pasture" and ten framed pictures, the examples from the Munich school, which include Von Severin's "Belgian Pasture," Kronberger's "The Passport," and Gabriel Max's "Flora." Mr. Thurber called particular attention to the latter. Max, he said, was the greatest of the German painters represented in the collection and his Madonna was almost as well known as Raphael's. Of the paintings from the French and Italian schools there are on exhibition: Victor Henry Lesur's "A Willing Messenger," a Louis XVI scene in the market-place with the brilliant and ornate costumes peculiar to that day; Ascanzi's water color "The Duel," Spinnetti's "An Interesting Game," and Rosati's "Special Instructions," the latter presenting some of the wonderful rugs and draperies for which the artist is famous.

All the great artists, said the speaker, appeal to us in their simplest moods. Dutch art is so simple, homely, and direct, that it is so easily steadfast in its favor. Unnecessary elaboration which has been characteristic of the Italian and French schools in the past, no longer pleases the discerning. In answer to a question as to whether or not Svend Svendsen's "Sunset in Norway" belongs to the impressionistic school, Mr. Thurber declared that the purple shadows on the snow and the gorgeous pinks in which a portion of the scene is suffused are perfectly natural, as in Sweden. The impressionist, he said, sees colors in nature that never were, but which his overwrought imagination places there. The lecture tonight will be on "The Value of Art Collections and Art in the Home."

LOCAL ALUMNI FAVOR BREWER

AS SUCCESSOR OF GRADUATE MANAGER KILPATRICK.

WORK OF JANESVILLE BOY

Since Leaving Madison Peculiarly
Fits Him for Position—Same Opinion Elsewhere in State.

Janesville alumni, former and present students of the University of Wisconsin, numbering some two hundred in all, are behind a movement to have the name of Chester Brewer of the class of 1897 given all possible consideration when the question of naming a successor to Graduate Athletic Manager Kilpatrick comes up before the athletic board at Madison. Correspondence with alumni in all parts of the state has been commenced and already some most favorable replies from alumni who have a large influence in university affairs, have been received.

Friends of the Janesville boy who is now coaching the teams and managing the athletic department of the Michigan Agricultural College at Lansing, are proud of the record he made at Madison, and claim, in addition to this, that his successful work for Albion College in developing teams during the years 1899-1903 to a point of excellence never before attained, and his intimate knowledge of every branch of athletics, make him the logical candidate for the position which his alma mater is about to fill. George F. Downer, editor of the All-Alumni Magazine, recently called attention to the fact that Brewer and "Big John" Richards are the only men who have won three "W's" in one year. Brewer played right end on the championship football team of 1899 and it was his sensational fifty-five yard run to a point within striking distance of the goal that made it possible for the team to push Richards over for a touchdown and secure a victory over Minnesota by the score of 6 to 0 that year. He was also on the track and baseball teams and was one of the best all-around athletes which Wisconsin ever produced.

Since leaving the university he has devoted his entire time in developing teams and managing athletics in the Michigan colleges that have been referred to. At Lansing he holds a position not unlike that of Stagg of Chicago. He is not only peculiarly qualified for handling the managerial work with reference to athletics, but being aggressive as well as tactful and diplomatic, but he is able to do effective work in coaching in any of the three departments, should such services be needed. It is known that the Michigan Agricultural college would be very loth to part with Brewer but it is believed here that he would accept the position with Wisconsin if offered him.

SECOND TEAM GO TO FORT ATKINSON

Will Play Second Team There—The Madison-Janesville Game Here—
Saturday.

In order to keep up the interest of the substitutes and members of the second football team of the high school and to in some way repay them for the service they have been to the first team, a game has been arranged for them. The contest will take place Saturday afternoon at Fort Atkinson and the opposing eleven will be the Ft. Atkinson high school second team. The line-up has not yet been decided upon but the eleven will be comparatively light. In this city at the athletic park at two same time the game is in progress at Fort Atkinson, the first team of here will be playing the Madison high school aggregation. This time it is not a case of one team thinking of defeat and the other anticipating easy victory, but each eleven, in view of the fact that their competitors have good records behind them, are putting forth efforts to become stronger in team work and individual playing. The Madison team's record is one to be envied, for thus far she has been not once defeated by any team this year. Janesville's slate is not so clean but Janesville has played several hard games and there is but one defeat that has the least tinge of disgrace in it. After the Beloit game the local players have redeemed themselves by wiping the earth with Monroe, who last Saturday defeated Freepont, by nearly as large a score as did Beloit, and last Saturday by holding the Fort team down to two touchdowns and scoring on them.

MANY FROM HERE ATTEND FUNERAL

Services for the Late Mrs. Patrick
Joyce Held in Mineral Point Today.

Funeral services over the remains of the late Mrs. Patrick Joyce were held today in Mineral Point and a large number from here left to attend the ceremonies on the 10:35 on which the corpse was carried from Milwaukee to Mineral Point this morning. Among those from out of town who were there were the three daughters of the deceased: the Misses Agnes, Zeta and Retta Joyce; three nephews, John and Patrick Fowler of Milwaukee and P. T. Morley of Chicago. The Janesville people who went were: Mr. and Mrs. John Morrissey, Thomas Morrissey, the Misses Agnes and Margaret Morrissey, Mr. and Mrs. John Doran, Mrs. Mary Doran, the Misses Annie and Ella Doran, Mrs. Margaret Heagney, James Heagney, Mr. and Mrs. Connelley, Mr. and Mrs. Lillis, Mrs. Denney, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Crook, Mr. and Mrs. James Finley, James and Johnnie Kennott, and the Misses Mary and Nellie Dugan.

Another Chaffeur: To the list of local automobilists has been added the name of R. H. Barlow, the photographer. He secured a new high-grade Cadillac a few days ago in Milwaukee and brought the machine home in a four hours' run.

RUSK LYCEUM TO GET SYMBOL PINS

Never Before Have Had Pin or Color To Designate Members of the Organization.

It is the plan of the leaders of the Rusk Lyceum to call a special meeting of the organization this afternoon at the dismissal of school to decide on the design of the new pins that the society determined to get some time ago. It is expected that the pins will be somewhat symbolical to the principles and purposes of the organization but beauty of design and color will not be totally disregarded to attain this end. The Lyceum has never before had a pin or color but hereafter the pins will mark the members of the club.

NEW ROUND HOUSE FOR THE ST. PAUL.
Rumored That Fifteen-Store House
and Shops Will Be Erected Here
Next Year.

It is rumored that next spring work will be commenced upon a new round house in this city for the St. Paul road. It has long been expected that this move would be taken, but now it seems that the building will surely be constructed next spring. It will be three times the size of the present one and will have fifteen stalls and a machine shop in the rear, said a prominent St. Paul official today. The old house will be torn down and the new will occupy the same site.

ARE VISITING SUGAR FACTORY

JANESVILLE GROCERS SEE HOW SUGAR IS MADE.

GUESTS OF ST. PAUL ROAD

Went Down on a Special Train This Afternoon at Two O'clock.

This afternoon the grocers of Janesville were the guests of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul road and the Rock County Sugar Beet factory. The party left the St. Paul depot at two o'clock on a special train for the factory, where they were met by Mr. Hapke and Mr. Osborn and shown the workings of this giant sugar plant. Refreshments were served at the factory and each grocer had a chance to sample the goods which he may be selling over his counters within a week.

THE PARTY

Those who went on the trip were:
H. M. Dedrick, president of the Grocers' association; E. C. Baumann, secretary; E. D. Stevens, O. D. Bates, H. Johnson, James Sheldon, A. C. Munger, Curle & Olson, F. Wilbur, Warren, Skelly, Paul Randolph and his son, Walter Taylor, Woodruff, Robert Plekerling, Ed Winslow, Henry Hanson, Tarrant & Osgood, E. N. Frodenal, C. F. Muenchow and A. C. Campbell.

Wonderful Sight

Aside from these gentlemen there was a large party of citizens who drove down to the factory and went through it with the party. The work of making sugar from the paring and washing of the first beet to the finished product ready for shipment was watched with much interest. The factory is cutting between six hundred and six hundred and fifty tons of beets a day, working day and night, and is shipping from two to three cars of finished products each day.

County Board VISITS ASYLUM

MAKES TWO ELECTIONS SPECIAL
BUSINESS FOR TOMORROW.

TAX LEVY TO BE UNCHANGE

Assessed Values Are Higher This Year by Several Million Dollars.

Despite the fact that the valuation of real and personal property in Rock county is several millions in advance of what it was last year it is probable that the county board will tomorrow place the assessment at the same figure, $11,329,988, as it was last year. The board also discovered that the county poor farm and asylum was not paying for itself and made an appropriation of $1,500 to carry it through the year. Tomorrow the board will take up as a special order of business the election of a new trustee for the county farm and asylum and also the selection of a supervisor of assessments. As W. J. McIntyre is the present holder of both offices it is probable that he will be elected to all both of these offices again.

Increased Valuation

Supervisor of Assessments McIntyre has reported that his findings of the true value of the real and personal property in Rock county for the present year is $54,526,931. He based his figures on the true value of the property in the county and then deducted ten per cent for over-valuation, according to the rule laid down by the state tax commission. This, however, is much higher than the valuation for last year and it is probable that the board will base their tax levy on the same figures as last year, not accepting Mr. McIntyre's figures for the real value.

Visiting Farm

This afternoon the county board is visiting the county poor farm and asylum. The increase in cost of running this farm is explained by the fact that the per capita cost of inmates this year has been $1.91. Last year the insane cost about $1.64 and the poor $1.18. This accounts for the deficit and we are sure that it is because of the increased cost of living and the greater number of inmates to be supported. There has been no laxity in management and the deficit is unavoidable.

WEDDED IN CREAM CITY YESTERDAY

Miss Elizabeth Newbauer of Milwakee, and Fred C. Pierson United in Marriage.

In the city of Milwaukee yesterday Fred C. Pierson of this city and Miss Elizabeth Newbauer, formerly of Janesville, were united in marriage. They returned to this city this morning and will go to housekeeping on Academy street. Miss Newbauer is well known here and popular in all circles in which she is acquainted. Mr. Pierson is foreman of the cutting department at the Marshall shoe company and prominent among the rising young men of Janesville.

POLICE DO-BIT OF CLEVER WORK

Recover an Overcoat Stolen From Riverside Hotel Last Evening.

Acting City Marshal Brown made a clever haul last evening, catching an overcoat thief and recovering a stolen overcoat within a few hours after the theft occurred. The call came from the Riverside hotel about eight-thirty, when the police were notified that a guest had lost an overcoat. Marshal Brown was given the description of the thief and overcoat and by three o'clock had his man rounded up and the overcoat recovered. The prisoner gave his name as Albert Snyder and he appears to be a clever actor. He was caught in the railroad yards where he was evidently waiting to board a southbound train for Chicago. He confessed the theft to Marshal Brown and will be brought up for trial tomorrow.

SOCIETY.

The faculty and students of the southern Wisconsin business college gave the second of a series of entertainments last night in college hall, armory block. A large number of students and their friends attended. The rooms were tastefully decorated and a very enjoyable evening was spent. The following program was a feature of the evening:

Opening number by Prof. Dreyer's orchestra
Reading Miss Hattie Decker
Selection The Misses Crowley
Orchestra
Address "Economy"
Senator Whitehead
Violin Solo Oscar Halverson
Dancing was indulged in until 12 o'clock.

Mrs. H. G. Carter and Miss Elizabeth Schickler were hostesses to some sixty friends at a one o'clock luncheon yesterday. Roses and chrysanthemums were effectively used in the decorations. At the encore game which followed Mrs. W. G. Wheeler secured the first prize and Miss Harris the second. Later Roy Carter was called upon to entertain the guests with vocal and instrumental selections. Mrs. Carter and Miss Schickler are to entertain again on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gentle, recently wedded, were surprised by fifty friends at their newly furnished home on Gore street last evening. The guests carried baskets, well loaded with good things and a tempting supper was served near midnight. Among the many useful gifts presented was a handsome slide-board.

Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wheeler have invited a number of friends to their home on Sinclair street Saturday evening, the occasion of their crystal wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Rexford entertained last evening at a dinner, given at their home on Sinclair street in honor of their guest, Miss Lyman of Minneapolis.

The Ladies' Whist club met with Mrs. Edward Tallman at her home on North Jackson street this afternoon.

The ladies of the Woman's Relief corps will meet with Mrs. Blakely, 303 Glen street, on Friday afternoon at one o'clock to sew. A full attendance is desired.

Mr. and Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers are to entertain at a dinner party at six this evening.

Mrs. Claude Hendricks of Evansville is spending the day in Janesville.

DESPERATION IS NOW THE MOTTO

Coach Curtis is Working Against Awful Odds at the University of Wisconsin.

Arne C. Lerum, formerly guard on the Wisconsin football team and an assistant coach this season, is relied upon to show Wisconsin how to meet Chicago Thanksgiving day at Marshall field. He was at the Michigan game at Ann Arbor last Saturday and says he has some ideas which he thinks will be effective against the maroon in the final game of the season.
Those students who have fallen out of sympathy with Coach Curtis are heard to remark that he should secure the services of Charles McCarthy to get the Badger team in shape for Chicago. McCarthy was an official at the Chicago-Michigan game and learned much of the Chicago game. Ralph Hamill, formerly of Chicago, was an official at the Wisconsin-Minnesota game at Minneapolis last Saturday and he is reported this week to be assisting Coach Stang in the preparation for Wisconsin. Similar policy on the part of Coach Curtis would lead to getting McCarthy on the Badger field for the coming week.
Coach Curtis is doing his utmost, with partial success, to instill a fighting spirit into the dilapidated Badger team. He feels harder than any other man in the daily practice. Clad in his old football suit, he watches and takes part in every play in the scrimmage, sometimes jumping into the line to show a player how the charge should be made or how the opponents' rush should be met. There is grimness and determination in his conduct. It is a picture of some pathos. As a player he was three selected on the all-western team. As a coach he has fallen into disfavor. He leaves the gridiron probably forever on Thanksgiving day, having none of the admiration around him that was present when he was a tower of strength for the Badgers at tackle. When he gets into a play today he is never held and had he a team like himself the season would be a glorious one.

FREIGHT CLAUSE NOW PETITIONED

INTERURBAN COMPANY FILES
ITS APPLICATION TODAY.

WOULD BENEFIT MERCHANTS

Is Up to the Council Now—Matter
Will Come Before Them
Very Soon.

When the council next meets the question of granting the Beloit, Delavan Lake and Janesville Railway company the right to carry express, package freight and United States mails as well as passengers, will come before them for consideration. An application asking that this right be granted, the road was filed with City Clerk Dargatz this afternoon.

In Separate Car

The company asks that the first section of the ordinance which granted them the right to build and operate the road be so amended that they may carry express, parcel freight and United States mails. It is provided in the petition that it be carried in a separate compartment in the passenger cars used by the company.

Slightly Cars

The amendment also provides that the cars shall be slightly and constructed as far as practicable the passenger cars of the road. Such as the express car now in use by said company on that portion of the line in the state of Illinois.

A Good Plan

It is said that wherever the electric roads have been granted this privilege it has been of great benefit to the merchants of the city. From the action of the mass-meetings held last spring it would seem that among the business men of the city the plan would meet with great favor.

FOR NEW TIMBER SEASONING SPOTS

Bureau of Forestry Will Establish Stations in Wisconsin and Michigan.

The Bureau of Forestry has recently signed an agreement to make extensive timber seasoning tests in two western states, in cooperation with two telegraph and telephone companies. Experimental stations will be located at Marinette, Wis., and Escanaba, Mich., and probably a third station will be established at Ashland, Wis. The expense of the experiments will be borne jointly by the bureau of the companies. Cedar and tamarack telephone and telegraph poles will be furnished by the state of Wisconsin free of cost, and two railroad companies have agreed to haul them to the experiment stations without charge for freight.
The object of the experiments is to determine how many years can be added to the life of each pole by proper seasoning. Since millions upon millions of poles are used along telegraph and telephone lines, even one year's extra service for each pole will amount to a tremendous saving in expense. Unseasoned cedar poles last from twelve to fifteen years. Seasoning experiments have shown how to increase this time by three or four years, and it is now expected to improve on this increase. Past methods of seasoning have effected a drying-out of 20 per cent of the original weight of the poles. The better seasoned the pole, the less chance there is for decay, which is promoted by moisture.
Such experiments are of large importance not only to telegraph and telephone companies, but to all users of heavy timber which come in contact with the ground, at which line decay gets in its most deadly work. It is believed that still greater cooperation between the use of proper methods of preservative treatment. The latter is a subject which the Bureau of Forestry has for some time been investigating, as set forth in its Bulletin No. 41, "Seasoning of Timber," and other publications. Further bulletins dealing with different aspects of the same problem will be issued later.

AN ANSWER MADE TO THE ARTICLE

Old Fog's Article Telling of Use for Alley Is Approved Of.

From time to time there have appeared in the columns of "The Gazette" articles signed "Old Fog," which have touched upon municipal affairs. The following communication is in answer to a recent letter in which the subject of utilizing the alley in the rear of the stores facing Main street as a market square was touched upon.

To the Gazette Co.:

"Old Fog" has finally made a suggestion in your issue worthy of thought and consideration. It seems to me there is plenty of room on this desolate alley for a good sale and fair ground. This space is now and has been since the tenth day of July, 1846—almost a nuisance and practically of no value. With some expenditure it can be made an attractive resort and appreciable. I write this to bring public thought to "Old Fog's" suggestion. NON COMPOS.

Open to All

The Gazette would like to hear from other citizens on this same subject. The communications can be sent to the office personally or by mail. It is, however, necessary that each one be signed. That is, the signature of the author should be attached. Fever Convalescent.

In some cases of scarlet fever a condition will arise almost in the beginning of the attack in which the stomach will reject food. If vomiting does not occur during the commencement of the attack, there is likely to appear later a peculiar thumping sensation in the stomach, which is very annoying, causing a very sensitive and disagreeable feeling of that organ during the eruption period. Very little food, if any, is desired or required by the patient. Cooling drinks, such as lemonade, or orangeade, are excellent; ices and even a little ice cream may be relished and found beneficial. Buttermilk is most excellent, as it is both food and drink. I have named a number of things that may be given, not that all should be given. The eruption period continues only three or four days, and, during that time, as I have said before, very little, if any, food is needed; and the patient should not be urged to partake of anything for which he has no desire. If he has a desire for ice water, give it to him in small quantities and frequently, or give him cracked ice to suck.

At the end of the third or fourth day, possibly sooner, if the previous instructions have been carried out, the eruptions will begin to fade, and probably disappear by the sixth day. The temperature then rapidly falls to a little above the normal, but if there are complications, it may not fall below 100 or 101 degrees. The pulse also decreases with the temperature, although the volume may not be as full as in the normal condition, because the fever has prostrated the person somewhat.

Then comes the peeling of the skin (desquamation), which is likely to begin in the ordinary cases between the seventh and ninth days. After the first appearance of the eruption, the experienced nurse or hydropathist will from then on exercise great caution, both in the treatment of the patient and in those who are liable to exposure. The little bran-like particles of skin are plainly manifest, coming off of the skin. Sometimes they are very abundant, coming off in great patches or scales. They are very light, and fly about in the least breath of wind, and for this reason it is necessary to use great caution. See that no doors or windows are left open which will cause a draft; carrying them to other apartments, or passers-by. They may alight on the clothing, where they may be carried for miles, and, in case they find suitable soil, at once propagate the disease in some innocent person, who can in no way account for the exposure. As this peeling process goes on sometimes for as long as two or three weeks, there are enough particles given off to inoculate a whole city. Frequently successive layers of cuticle will peel off and disappear. It is from the fever and fading of the eruption should not deceive the attendant nor the patient into thinking that all danger is passed. During the period of desquamation the kidneys are liable to become troublesome. Engorgement with blood and inflammation is sometimes so great that it would almost seem as if the tiny scales had gathered into them and closed up the tubes; and it is at this period that kidney difficulties may occur which may later on, when recovery seems certain, and all is serene, suddenly terminate in a case of dropsy, which frequently proves fatal. In view of the previous knowledge which we have gained in regard to congestion and inflammation, it seems hardly necessary to instruct the intelligent reader regarding the method of reducing the inflammation. You will remember to keep the feet warm with the fomentations, if necessary, and then if it is fever and inflammation in the kidneys, use the cold compress; if it is congestion, use a hot fomentation over the kidneys. A slight cold, overeating, or even exertion cannot be too strongly guarded against at this period. Should be regarded as a favorable sign; while the bowels, which are usually constipated during the period of eruption, become free, sometimes amounting to diarrhoea. This need occasion no alarm. If it does not go too far, in which case the injection of a teaspoonful of moderate cold water into the colon will probably relieve it at once, but it may be necessary to repeat this in an hour.

The temperature of the room should be kept at about 72 degrees, and should be well ventilated in the manner I have before stated, so as to prevent the fever being carried to the other rooms, or persons. Bathe about twice a day after the eruption has subsided, and follow with the disinfectant, and if there is not too much fever, and a coolness of the skin, the whole body may be anointed with a little olive oil, being careful to dry the skin thoroughly, and not leave a sticky, greasy, disagreeable feeling. There is much in making a patient feel comfortable, and it can be done by the thoughtful with little effort. Gooze grease is just as good as the olive oil, if you have it more convenient. If there is an itching, burning

Cured of Asthma

After Years of Terrible Suffering.

Mary Josephine Bozy, Floyd Knob, Ind., writes: "After suffering untold agonies for 32 years from Asthma, I was cured by Schiffmann's Asthma Cure. I used to be so bad that I could not move without help, but I can now do all my own work." Another writes: "My little boy 7 years old has been a sufferer for several years, sometimes so bad that we could not hold him in bed, expecting any moment for him to breathe his last. Doctors did him no good, and we had almost given up in despair, when through accident we heard of Schiffmann's Asthma Cure, tried it and it almost instantly relieved him." Mrs. D. C. ing sensation, which is a most extract will be found very soothing and highly beneficial in place of the oil, or may be used alternately with the oil.

The diet must at all times be very simple; thin gruel, choice, ripe fruits, either peeled and masticated thoroughly, or cooked thoroughly until it may be digested easily, and not agitate the stomach, using great care not to allow much to be eaten at a time. Oatmeal or other cereal foods should be avoided; as well as any kind of bread, meats, or solid dishes of any kind. Plenty of liquid foods, such as malted milk, kumiss, soups, broths, and farinaceous gruels of arrowroot, farina, etc., may be given, and later on eggs, with milk toast, baked custard, wine and beef jelly, mush, baked apples, stewed prunes and oranges. Go from this to more substantial food very gradually.

The above directions, carefully followed out, will go far to remove the terrors of scarlet fever, and I trust that many may be benefited.

Insomnia.

I have many letters from various parts of the world in which the writers appeal for relief from insomnia. I have written upon the subject many times, and have frequently described successful methods which afford relief to people, according to the spirit in which they practice the cure. I presume the number of methods for the relief of this malady could not all be written in a book of a thousand pages, and all of them might fall in some certain case, and yet to the person who has been cured there is nothing so simple and easy as the method by which he was relieved, and as most people like to help others, he takes great pleasure in telling others about his plan.

A merchant of Chicago brought to me his wife for treatment, and she declared with great earnestness that she had not slept for two weeks. I placed her in a quiet room in charge of a competent nurse with instructions to watch her carefully and report the next morning. I was certainly surprised next morning to see the patient looking quite rested, although she firmly declared she had not closed her eyes five minutes. Taking the nurse aside, I learned that after fretting for about an hour because she could not sleep, the patient had not only gone soundly to sleep, but snored so loudly that the nurse was kept wide-awake nearly the whole night. The patient awakened only once, and after asking for a drink, and again complaining because of wakefulness, slept as before. Now, this was an extreme case, and peculiar methods must be adopted; suggestion was all that was needed, and I asked the woman if she had ever been hypnotized. She said "No," but was perfectly willing to be, if it would cure her. I had the husband come into the room while I talked to her in a very impressive manner about the powers of hypnotism, and the husband said that he had no objections, if she could only be relieved. I therefore asked him to be present the next night, and said I would put her to sleep. I kept her as much as possible in the open air that day, and, having inspired her with confidence, I had her carefully and quietly put to bed. The husband sat there in open-mouthed wonder while I talked to her in a soothing tone for a few moments, telling her to not awaken until seven o'clock next morning. I then took hold of both her hands, pressing with my thumb upon the ulnar nerve of her left hand. This caused a tingling sensation in the arm, and she at once declared that I was a strong, electric battery, and that her arm was asleep already. In five minutes she was snoring, and we sat there for half an hour, while she slept soundly. I then awakened her, and she declared she had not closed her eyes. This convinced the husband that she was laboring under a delusion, and stopped his worry. I again took hold of her hands, and she was soon asleep, awakening next morning convinced that she was cured.

Smile in the Dark.
All cases are not like this, but many are, and a cure can be secured in the following manner: Smile in the dark when you awaken in the night, and cannot go to sleep; you will find that the jaws are lightly closed, and you are worrying about something. Now smile about it, and see that every muscle of the face is relaxed into a pleasant smile. Imagine that you are meeting some dear friend, and fix your face for the approval of that friend. Now, this may seem to be one of the fool cases, but try it. Keep on smiling and think of things that are pleasing. The simple fact that you have changed the thought currents of the mind and relaxed the muscles of the face and jaws will soon place you in the land of pleasant dreams. Try it.

Smoking in Turkey.
Probably in no nation under the sun is smoking a more prevalent habit than in Turkey. It is now chiefly in the form of cigarettes that tobacco is consumed, and as Turkey produces some of the best kinds of the weed for use in the dainty tubes we may expect the cigarette to become increasingly popular. Strange as it may seem, cigars are in many parts of Turkey cheaper than cigarettes, and this naturally causes an increased demand for these goods.—Cigar and Tobacco World.

AN OLD BACHELOR SAYS THAT—

Flattery is a key for opening female hearts.

Catch-as-catch-can is the matrimonial motto of some girls.

The mother-of-pearl would certainly make a jewel of a mother-in-law.

When a woman says she doesn't care, it's a safe bet that she does.

When a baby cries it never sheds sufficient tears to drown the noise.

A girl can't understand why all the other girls are not in love with her lover.

When a girl is in love her mother always thinks she has a touch of malaria.

When a man makes a fool of himself over a woman she takes it for granted.

Love that has nothing but beauty to keep it going is apt to die of hasty consumption.

When a girl begins to take comic valentines seriously she has reached the age limit.

A married woman abandons her opinion the moment her husband is converted to it.

At 16 a girl declares she will marry only for love. At 26 she finds it convenient to fall in love with a man who has money.

PRICE OF TURKEYS WILL BE UP HIGH

Farmers Expect Twenty-Two Cents—Turkey Trust in the East—Other Prices High.

From the way the market appears at the present it is thought that the price of turkey by Thanksgiving day will be exceedingly high. Just what the prevailing price will be in Janesville can not be definitely estimated but that it will be twenty cents or above is now generally conceded. The year has not been the best for raising turkeys and the cool summer and great amount of damp weather has had a great deal to do with the scarcity of the supply in this vicinity. As it is, the Chicago and Milwaukee commission merchants will have to be depended upon for a part of the supply for a large number of turkey raisers sell their whole stock to those merchants. The Chicago market is watched very closely here and the local market prices vary with the market of that city, though the retail prices here will hardly be as high as there. In Chicago there is a chance of a famine in turkeys for the commission men have heard of a turkey trust in the east. It was organized by the farmers of New York. Turkeys were selling at twenty-five cents but the raisers banded together and determined to raise the price five cents per pound. The Chicago merchants say if the trust is a success the Chicago market will most certainly be affected. They claim that if the price is 30 cents in the east the turkey farmers of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin, who supply the Chicago market, will send their turkeys east. That would result in a famine here and force the price to 30 cents. The report comes from the farmers of Rock county that they expect to get twenty-two cents a pound for their turkeys at wholesale and should this be the case the turkeys here will be twenty-five cents at retail.

The price of the other articles that are particularly popular for Thanksgiving dinners are also high. The prices have been up the year around and no raise in these is now expected by the local grocers.

EMPHATIC TALK

The Kind That Carries Conviction to Every Janesville Reader.

Conviction must follow such emphatic proof as is given here. The testimony of Janesville residents should satisfy the most skeptical. Here is a Janesville case. Read it and see if doubt can exist in the face of this evidence.

Mr. E. T. Fish, of 355 Ravine street, proprietor of the Fish Dray Line says: "When I was twenty years of age I fell injuring my back, and ever since that I was troubled more or less with a dull aching pain across the loins. It never laid me up but it was often painful and annoying. Of late years I have gone to a physician every six months and had myself thoroughly examined under the impression that there might be something wrong with my kidneys. The diagnosis always resulting in the physician claiming these organs were sound, but as the pains existed when I happened to notice in our Janesville papers that Doan's Kidney Pills were guaranteed to cure just such troubles I procured a box at the People's Drug store and took them. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation. My back has not ached since I used them. I have heard others speak very complimentary of them and if I did not know their merit and required such a medicine I would consider it a favor if some one suggested their use to me. For this reason I endorse them." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the U. S. Remember the name, Doan's, and take no other.
